

Once upon a time there was a little girl called Tabitha and she went under the water and went swimming. There were three fish who lived in the coral. The three fish went for a swim because their plankton pizza was too hot. Tabitha went swimming to the coral. She tried the big slice of pizza but it was too salty. She tried the medium slice of pizza and it was too lumpy. Then she tried the little slice of pizza and it was just right.

She went into the living room and there was three drinks. She tried the big drink and it was too cold. Then she tried the medium drink but it was too lemony. Then she tried the little drink and it was just right and she drank it all up.

Then she saw the coral staircase so she swam up them. Then she saw three green coral beds. She tried the big coral bed and it was too bumpy. Then she tried the medium green coral bed but it was too high. Then she tried the little green coral bed and it was just right and she fell fast asleep.

Then the fish came back. The Big Fish said, "Who's been eating my pizza?"

The Medium Fish said, "Who's been eating my pizza?"

The Little Fish said, "Who's been eating my pizza and they've eaten it all up." The Little Fish began to cry.

The three fish went into the living room and the Big Fish said, "Who's been sipping my drink?"

The Medium Fish said, "Who's been sipping my drink?"

The Little Fish said, "Who's been sipping my drink and they sipped it all up?" The Little Fish began to cry.

Then the three fish swam up the coral stairs and they saw the three green coral beds. The Big Fish said, "Who's been sleeping in my green coral bed?"

The Medium Fish said, "Who's been sleeping in my green coral bed?"

The Little Fish said, "Who's been sleeping in my green coral bed and she's still there!"

And then Tabitha woke up. She swammed downstairs and out the door. The three fish lived happily ever after.

The End.
